

RENEW BUSINESS CONDITION IN U. S.

More than $300,000,000 that had been hoarded during the war has been returned to banks, since the signing of the armistice, according to the February statement of the Federal Reserve Board.

In reviewing the business conditions throughout the country in February, the statement says that "while progress in the readjustment of business to peace conditions is reported to the board's representatives in the several districts to have been made during the month, and while the advance in different parts of the country is reported generally gratifying, some uneasiness is expressed by the public at large because the progress is not more rapid."

According to the statement, there has probably been "over anxiety and exaggeration with respect to labor unemployed." Federal Reserve agents have found that the surplus of labor is smallest in the South and Southwest, while in only a few districts have they had reports of serious labor controversies. As to the readjustment of wages the statement points out that in the South and Southwest there are no indications of any reduction in the wage scale, while in the North and East employees are demanding higher wages, notwithstanding the existence of considerable unemployment. Some revisions of wage scales are reported from the Middle West.

"In the New England district," the statement says, "the cotton market is at a complete standstill, so far as the raw material is concerned, while the mills that are operating are running only a few days each week, and profits have been reduced to a minimum figure, and prices have declined sharply."

In leather and shoes, raw material is today higher than when the armistice was signed, and the prediction is made that the price of shoes will advance rather than decline. Iron and steel production has shown no increase in activity, and the demand for steel is insufficient to take the output of the mills, while equipment establishments are working mostly on old orders.

Drastic revisions of conditions have occurred in the metal business, while the agricultural outlook throughout the country is bright.

BLAMES FILIBUSTER FOR UNCLE'S DEATH

TAMPA, March 7.—That the filibuster of the Republican Senators early this week caused the death yesterday of her uncle, Col. Hillary A. Herbert, was the opinion held today by Mrs. C. D. Royal. He was Secretary of the Navy in President Cleveland's Cabinet.

Colonel Herbert was scheduled to deliver an address in Montgomery, Ala., last night, when he planned to denounce Congressional obstructionists. While at the home of his niece here, he became greatly agitated and going to his room, said he would spend the night preparing his Montgomery speech. He was dead when members of the family later went to his room.

Colonel Herbert was eighty-five years of age. He served eighteen years in the House, representing the Montgomery, Ala., district.

SEEK CARLIN'S SEAT.
RICHMOND, Va., March 7.—There will be plenty of candidates for the seat of Congressman C. C. Carlin, of Alexandria, it appeared today. Mr. Carlin resigned because of a Republican majority in the House. Four men mentioned in connection with the office are R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax county; Col. M. B. White, of Leesburg; State Senator Louis H. Maehen and former Senator R. C. L. Moncre, of Stafford county.
